Kingdom Education God's Plan For Educating Future Generations

Synopsis

Revised, expanded, and featuring the latest research, this edition of Kingdom Education, by Glen Schultz provides parents, church leaders, and Christian educators with biblical principles on raising their children for Christ. Through this valuable resource parents will learn how they can raise future generations to think and act from a biblical worldview. Church leaders will discover how to train parents on biblical principles. Christian educators will explore how to implement biblical principles, and along with the home and church, provide students with a firm foundation that is unchanging and consistent. Great tool for Christian Schools and Home Schools.

I was given Kingdom Education by a fellow administrator a couple of years ago, but I just finished the 180 page book. It is required reading for an M.Ed. class I will be taking in a few months. This 16 chapter book is divided into five "Kingdom Education" sections: 1. Its Definition, Purpose, and Result 2. The Role of the Home 3. The Role of the Church 4. The Role of the School 5. The Future Dr. Schultz's main message is that parents must ensure that their children receive an education that is biblically based. The local church must work with parents and teachers so that every child has the opportunity to receive an education that is Christ-centered. Some of what Dr. Schultz shares about public schools will likely be a surprise to many, and opinions will definitely be formed. I believe Dr. Schultz's book has a good message. It is loaded with Scripture, and it is evident that Dr. Schultz desires the best for young people. I do think more practical solutions as to how to make Christian education a possibility for everyone would make this book even better. Church buildings definitely need to be more than a Sunday and Wednesday meeting place as Dr. Schultz stated, but much needs to change about our thinking in order for all young people to have the opportunity to receive a Christian education. Getting a Christian education is expensive, and there are many who simply cannot afford it. What can we do to make Christian schooling affordable to all? There are many Christian schools that are lacking creativity and a challenging curriculum. How can we better engage our minds and be producers instead of imitators? I would have also liked for Dr.
