Teacher Evaluation That Makes A Difference: A New Model For Teacher Growth And Student Achievement

Synopsis

In this essential new book, best-selling author and researcher Robert J. Marzano and teacher-effectiveness expert Michael D. Toth lay out a framework for the next generation of teacher evaluation: a model focused primarily on helping educators develop and improve their practice. By taking into account multiple accurate, data-rich measures of teacher performance and student growth, the model ensures that all teachers receive fair, meaningful, and reliable evaluations. The book includes * Standards, rubrics, and suggested rating methodologies; * A detailed, five-phase plan for implementing the model; * Guidelines for calibrating evaluation criteria according to teachers experience levels; * A step-by-step guide to creating a coaching program for teachers who require intervention; and * Recommendations for using technology platforms to enable teacher collaboration. Teacher evaluation has too often focused on affixing ratings to teachers rather than helping them grow into mastery. The practical, field-tested model proposed in Teacher Evaluation That Makes a Difference has everything your school or district needs to provide teachers and, by extension, their students with the support necessary for success.

Customer Reviews

Marzano and his staff have created an essential book for all administrators. This book is an easy read, and can be used as a reference as well. This is a must read- have it on your list of reference materials.

I actually prefer Marzano over Danielson, due to the instructional language of Marzano. He quite completely explains how each objective can be reached and exactly what an administrator should look for when evaluating teachers. It's quite objective, minimizing subjectivity. There are also numerous other books that help train teachers, provide self-evaluation support, and is a complete series for the improvement of instruction in your school. Every administrator should include this in their professional library.

great read!
